

Abstract

An on-line work order management system for accommodating a plurality of medium and small companies called vendors and customers and which is accessible by any web browser. The system includes a central database controlled by the system operator and is accessible by logging on with a customer or vendor ID. The system allows customers to create work orders for the vendors and allows the vendors access to the work orders to schedule work based thereon and to review all previously submitted work.

09791037 044394
T0343 2578250